

JOCs Asian Conference on Oleo Science

The Japan Oil Chemists' Society will organize the Asian Conference on Oleo Science on September 8-10, 2014 in Royton Sapporo (http://www.daiwaresort.co.jp/english/29_royto.html), Sapporo, Japan. Very welcome to this interesting and exciting scientific meeting on oleo science including oil, fat & lipid chemistry, detergent & interface science, processing developments in oil & fat technology, lipid biochemistry, nutrition & biotechnology, biodiesel & biofuel, lipid oxidation & antioxidants, analytical techniques & application, food & feed nutrition, and so on. The meeting is open to the public and scientific communities in the world.

I am sure that visitors will find a harmony between the bustle of Sapporo city and the peacefulness of nature that can be found in the outskirts of Sapporo. There are rich ecological systems located just minutes from downtown and you can even catch the rare sight of salmon swimming upstream in a river flowing through the center of the city in fall.

We, local committee members hope all of you will participate in the Asian Conference on Oleo Science for enjoying both science and sight-seeing around Sapporo.

With best regards,
Local Committee Chair

Prof. Dr. Kazuo MIYASHITA
Faculty of Fisheries Sciences
Hokkaido University
Hakodate 041-8611
JAPAN
Tel & Fax: +81 138 408804
E-mail: kmiya@fish.hokudai.ac.jp
(Details will be appeared in this web-site)